FATHER JARETT'S ~ Q & A

This is the first of ten parts in a series entitled "Faith and Reasons behind the Mass."

First, why do we call our Catholic worship service mass? Perhaps, you have also heard other names used to reference what we as Catholics do on Sunday, the most common being Eucharist and Mass. Others you may have heard might be, "the breaking of the bread," "the Lord's supper," or perhaps even "the holy sacrifice." All of these titles are acceptable names of our celebration as Catholics and have been used more and less frequently throughout Church history.

For example, "the breaking of the bread," comes directly from St. Luke's Gospel chapter 24 in the account of the meeting of Jesus and the two disciples on the road to Emmaus. This name was quickly given to the reenactment of the last supper of Jesus Christ and would have been used during the first century of Christianity and beyond to reference the worship that was happening in people's homes during times of persecution.

The title "mass" has as its Latin root Missa, which means "to be sent forth." This comes from the closing of mass in Latin when the deacon would proclaim, "Ite Missa Est." (Translation: "Go, it is sent.") So, this ancient name for our Catholic worship draws particular attention to why we gather. To come together, to be strengthened by one another, to be strengthened by God, most powerfully in communion, and then to be sent forth to serve God in the world.

Sadly, how many Catholics regularly leave mass early and thus are absent for this "sending forth," such a significant part of our belief, taking what we have received and being "sent out" to transform the world. So we now know why we call it mass, but before you explain anything more, "What if I don't get anything out of mass?" Hopefully explanation will deepen understanding, which will ignite further interest in these profound mysteries of our faith.

One of the opening prayers for mass in ordinary time begins, "Lord, help us to seek the values that will bring us lasting joy in this changing world." First, "Help us to seek." When you come to mass, are you seeking, are you looking for anything in particular, or do we get into the habit of putting our brain on "cruise control" for an hour? Perhaps the reason you don't "find" anything at mass, is because you are not looking. If you simply began each mass by asking God to give you one thing today to help you to better follow His will in your daily life, perhaps mass would be different. Perhaps you would grow to realize that the mass is steeped in God's word and we have no more profound way than mass for God to reveal Himself to us.

In Christ's Loving Service
Your Pastor,

Fr. Jarett

An Act of Spiritual Communion:

My Jesus, I believe that You are present in the Most Holy Sacrament. I love You above all things, and I desire to receive You into my soul. Since I cannot at this moment receive You sacramentally, come at least spiritually into my heart. I embrace You as if You were already there and unite myself wholly to You. Never permit me to be separated from You. Amen.

MIDWEST CATHOLIC FAMILY CONFERENCE -

“The Suffering you are experiencing because of the coronavirus is a reason for prayer and human closeness, especially while we are all practicing social-distancing. It is also the reason for Christian hope, even in these moments, God is speaking to us.” These words of the Pope are a balm to the soul. Please join us in our prayers for all the families and people who are part of and attend the conference. A Saturday and Sunday mass from the Conference has been posted at catholicfamilyconference.org to keep fresh in your memory the community that is present in the Midwest Catholic Family Conference. Because of the current situation in our world, registrations are not opening at this time. They are keeping abreast of the changes and will update you as decisions are made. Know our prayers are with you all. Please stay home, stay safe and stay connected.
